

Administrative Law

Definition

- Administrative law is the law which regulates the functions and composition of the Executive its relationship with the other organs of the State and the relationship with the private individual.
- Constitutional law deals with the three organs. AL with just one.
- The main function of Administrative Law is to ensure that the Administration governs within the parameters of law. A most important part of the subject is judicial review i.e. how the courts control the Administration and keep it penned within the law.
- To be distinguished from constitutional law (CL) . In CL one asks the question is a law or a government measure in line with the Constitution? In AL we never question the law itself : but we ask ourselves : has the Administration acted according to law. We cannot challenge the law itself but the actions of any public authority under the law.

Administrative Law deals with other matters such as the structure of the Administration(Adm.) , and the legislative and judicial powers of the Adm. , the functions of Local Government , the Attorney General, the State Advocate , the Malta Police Force, the Armed Forces of Malta , the Ombudsman and of the Commissioner for Standards in Public Life; Administrative Tribunals and the Administrative Review Tribunal (ART) but these are examined within the general function of keeping the Government in check.

Important Rules and Norms in Judicial Review

- In judicial review the Court will not substitute its discretion for that of the public authority but will only declare as null an act of the administration e.g Borda Case
- In judicial review, plaintiff has to prove actual, personal, juridical interest to start the action (Life Network Case morning after pill)
- In judicial review the question which courts asks is not whether something is right or wrong but whether it is lawful
- The difference between appeal and review. Appeal is granted by law on matters of fact and law. In judicial review only points of law may be raised, and then only under the specific conditions mentioned in article 469A Chapter 12 COCP. Therefore, even though there is no appeal in a given case from a decision of public authority, there can always be REVIEW but in such case the grounds are MUCH MORE LIMITED than an appeal.
- Govt Liability and Judicial Review : Liability means when government is responsible for acts done by its servants causing damage. Review deals with question whether an act is lawful irrespective of damages

The Law on Judicial Review in Malta

- Up to 1995 Malta did not have a special law on judicial review. Therefore according to lacuna doctrine, the Courts used to apply English rules of COMMON LAW
- IN 1995 wef from 30 October, article 469a entitled” Judicial review of Administrative Action” was introduced laying down the conditions and the grounds under which an administrative act may be challenged.
- The two main requirements are that there must be an administrative act and that act must be performed by a public authority .

Unfortunately this does not cover the legislative powers of the administration and administrative tribunals.

Fragmentation

- If the act is an administrative act then the provisions of article 469A apply
- If the act is legislative e.g the power of Ministers to issue regulations or delegated legislation then the operative article is article 116 of the Constitution which allows any citizen even without any juridical interest to challenge as ultra vires subsidiary legislation ;
- As to administrative tribunals e.g Rent Regulation Board or the Industrial Tribunal , there is no provision in the law for judicial review and therefore one applies m English common law

Administrative Act

- There is a definition in 469A “the issuing by a public authority of any order, licence, permit, warrant, decision or a refusal to any demand of a claimant, but does not include any measure intended for internal organization or administration within the said authority”. Borda case recruitment, transfers dismissal (Portelli case)
- If after two months from a written request, no answer, then it is legally presumed that the request has been refused ;

Public Authority

- The government of Malta including its Ministries and departments , local authorities , any body corporate established by law, and includes boards which are empowered in terms of law to issue warrants for the exercise of any trade or profession
- Consequently govt companies are not included e.g. Air Malta. However in the Malta Shipbuilding case, the courts have ruled that they are public authorities as well.
- Exceptionally, a private company has fallen under the rules of JR. The Tramontano case as to admission at the Casino de Malte . In UK Private Companies which exercise a public function e.g. electricity generation fall under JR

Other Mode of Contestation

- If there is another mode of contestation before a court or tribunal, then article 469A does not apply. This means that if there is an adequate remedy such as an appeal before a court or tribunal, one cannot file a judicial review case under 469A but must use that appeal to air one's grievances .
- An example would be the appeal which the law provides from decisions of the Lands Authority and the Authority for Transport in Malta to the Administrative Review Tribunal (ART) presided over by a serving or former magistrate .
- Similarly since the planning laws in Malta allow an appeal from a decision of the Planning Authority on a permit to the Environment and Planning Review Tribunal (EPRT) established by such law , one cannot open a judicial review case regarding a decision of the PA.

Rules of Natural Justice

- No definition in the law art 469A Ch 12
- Case Law has listed the following
 - Nemo Iudex in causa Propria
 - Audi Alteram partem (Pace v Anastasi Pace- 1946)
 - Giving Reasons (Ellul Sullivan Case and Alfred Sant 1992)
 - Analogy with” good administrative behaviour” in Administrative Justice Act Ch 490 applicable to adm. tribunals

Sphere of Application

- There is no limitation in art 469A.,
- It would be impossible to apply natural justice norms to every decision of a public authority .
- Originally NJ rules were a form of controlling the new judicial organs called tribunals.
- Then they started being applied to acts of the entire administration (Ridge v Baldwin in UK) in Malta e.g decision of Commissioner of Inland Revenue
- Each time a public authority decision affects rights of a person
- The Mary Grech case (1993). A valid building permit was withdrawn. The aggrieved party has a right to be allowed to make representations (not necessarily in an oral hearing) before such decision is taken .
- The Braggs case in the 17th century Dismissal from Plymouth Local Council

Audi Alteram partem and Giving reasons

- No need of oral hearing
- Equality of arms principle
- A good decision can be taken in the WRONG way (eg Grech case)
- No need for law to lay down that one should hear the other side.
- Giving Reasons
- This is important particularly where an appeal lies from a decision of a public authority .

Legitimate Expectation

- When there is an established practice which refers to a permissible practice that individuals have been able to enjoy in the past . Rational and Compelling reasons to depart OR Promises from public authorities
- Exceptions
- When law explicitly states that benefit is not forever'

- When promise is made as result of incorrect info
- Contrary to law
- Condition of promise not fulfilled
- Promise tainted with ambiguity

Abuse of Power

- Improper purpose and Taking Irrelevant Considerations into account.
- This includes bad faith, unreasonableness, ignoring relevant considerations, abdication of discretion, too much reliance on policy and legitimate expectation
- Landmark case Blue Sisters: Sister Luigi Dunkin v PM (26 June 1980)
- What is reasonable will depend on the aim scope and thrust of the authorising Act. In the Dunkin case: was a condition to the effect that at least 50% of all hospital beds and facilities at a private hospital had to be made available to the NHS a reasonable condition. The Court ruled that only health related conditions could be imposed.

Irrelevant Considerations Considered Relevant Considerations Ignored

- The Borda Case where age was considered to be an irrelevant consideration
- Gaston Caruana case where the track record of a gaming co employee was deemed relevant
- The La Stella Band Club case. Legitimate expectation and the letting off of light fireworks in Gozo

Abdication

- The Grezzju Debono case : Gozitan taxi owners were prevented from working in Malta so long as Maltesr taxi owners objected.
- Ballut Blocks: The COP refused explosives permit for a licensed quarry because the PA was against
- The Johann Said case; The Circus Tent at the Floriana Granaries during the Xmas Festive Season
