- Chapter 9 – Finance
- Chapter 10 – The Public Service

Review of the Constitution of Malta

- Chapter 11 – Local Councils
- Chapter 12 - Miscellaneous

The Constitution – Revised

- Highest law of the country
- Came into force on the 21st of September 1964
(Independence from UK)
- Most important amendments – 1974 and upon joining the EU in 2004
- Structure of the State in general
- Defines the parameters of the roles of institutions
- Guarantees the fundamental human rights of citizens

Separation of Powers and the Rule of Law

The Executive

The Judiciary

The Legislature

Separation of Powers and the Rule of Law

The Executive – Prime Minister + Cabinet of Ministers

The Legislature – Parliament – House of Representatives as elected by the public

The Judiciary - Judges + Court

Separation of Powers and the Rule of Law

The main aim of ensuring the separation of powers is that each of them keep one another in check. So, for instance – whilst parliament can enact laws – the judiciary has the power to declare such a law unconstitutional. Similarly, parliament can hold the executive accountable through questions & votes of confidence

Separation of Powers and the Rule of Law

Equality before the law – everyone, including the government is subject to the same legislation

Separation of Powers and the Rule of Law

Legal Certainty – Sittings, legislation and judgements are made public. Laws must be clear and comprehensible. This also includes access to justice.

Separation of Powers and the Rule of Law

In order to achieve and fulfill the rule of law, it is crucial that power is separated in a manner as to allow the three institutions to keep one another in check. The role of the judiciary could be seen as the most distinctive of all three – loss of trust in the judiciary would ultimately allow persons to take the law into their hands which would then, result in the disruption of the rule of law

91. (1) There shall be an Attorney General whose office shall be a public office and who shall be appointed by the President acting in accordance with the advice of the Prime Minister.

(2) A person shall not be qualified to hold office as Attorney General unless he is qualified for appointment as a judge of the Superior Courts.

(3) In the exercise of his powers to institute, undertake and discontinue criminal proceedings and of any other powers conferred on him by any law in terms which authorise him to exercise that power in his individual judgment the Attorney General shall have Constitutional independence and shall not be subject to the direction or control of any other person or authority except insofar as a law may provide:

- (a) for the judicial review of a decision not to prosecute or of any other decisions taken by the Attorney General, on the grounds of illegality or unreasonableness; or
- (b) for the judicial review on the basis of criteria established by law of a decision of the Attorney General that a prosecution should take place in a superior court of criminal jurisdiction where the punishment applicable would be higher than that which would apply had the same offence been tried before an inferior court of criminal jurisdiction.

(4) Subject to the provisions of sub-article (3) of this article,

The Attorney General

The Attorney General is the chief prosecuting officer. Has the power to institute, undertake and discontinue criminal proceedings

(2) A person shall not be qualified to hold office as State Advocate unless he is qualified for appointment as a judge of the Superior Courts.

CONSTITUTION OF MALTA

37

(3) The State Advocate shall be the advisor to Government in matters of law and legal opinion. He shall act in the public interest and shall safeguard the legality of State action. The State Advocate shall also perform such other duties and functions as may be conferred upon him by this Constitution or by any law. In the exercise of his functions, the State Advocate shall act in his individual judgment and he shall not be subject to the direction or control of any other person or authority.

State Advocate

A new office from that of the Attorney General was created in 2019 taking over the responsibility of the chief legal advisor to the Government. To represent government in all actions instituted against.

The Attorney General & State Advocate

- Both enjoy security of tenure and can only be removed from office by the President with 2/3 support of the members of the House of Representatives for proved inability or misbehaviour.

The Commission for the Administration of Justice

- Presided by the President of Malta
- Regulates amongst other things discipline over members of the judiciary and the legal profession

If person A carried out works in my property however did not finalise the job which ended up causing damages to my property? Article 1133 Civil Code Chapter 16 of the laws of Malta – non fulfillment of obligations – First Hall, Civil Court

OF THE EFFECTS OF OBLIGATIONS.

Liability in case of non-fulfilment of obligation.

1125. Where any person fails to discharge an obligation which he has contracted, he shall be liable in damages.

Obligation to give a thing includes obligation to preserve and deliver.

1126. (1) The obligation to give a thing carries with it the obligation to deliver the thing, and to preserve it until the delivery.

(2) If the debtor is in default for delay in making the delivery, the thing shall be at his risk and peril, even though before such default it was at the risk and peril of the creditor.

Non-performance of an obligation to do.

1127. In case of non-performance of an obligation to do, the creditor may be authorized to cause the performance thereof himself at the expense of the debtor.

Infringement of obligation to behave to do.

1128. Where the obligation is to behave to do, the debtor who infringes the obligation is liable in damages for the mere fact of such infringement.

Rights of creditor when obligation to behave to do is infringed.

1129. Saving his action for damages, the creditor may demand that anything done in breach of the obligation be undone, and may be authorized to undo it himself at the expense of the debtor.

When action is in default.

1130. (1) Where the obligation is to give or to do, and a time is fixed in the agreement, the debtor is in default by the mere lapse of such time, saving, as regards the payment of interest under article 1141, the provisions of that article.

(2) If no time is fixed in the agreement, or if the time expires after the death of the debtor, the debtor or his heir is not put in default except by an intimation by a judicial act.

If I would like to know on what basis a road block can be carried out? Criminal Code, Chapter 9 of the laws of Malta

Which law should I refer to and in which court should I file proceedings?

6. If according to law I was charged with a contravention before the Court of Magistrates as a Court of Criminal Judicature and orders imprisonment for a term of 10 years ?
